

MEAT FROM TWO ABATTOIRS LEGAL

City Officials Insist All Slaughtering Must Be in Plants They Have Inspected.

SAY OTHERS WERE SLOW
WAIT ON INSPECTORS ALTHOUGH IMPROVEMENTS WERE MADE.

City food and dairy inspectors will open their pure food campaign by a fight against meat markets which offer for sale meat from uninspected slaughter houses.

The Murray Meat & Livestock company and McMillan & Son are the plants which have city inspection, and other plants will have to have their killing done at these places until inspectors are allowed them by the city. Officials say this is because they were slow in making improvements at their plants which would entitle them to inspectors, but within another month or two it is probable that two more plants, at least, will be under city inspection.

Papworth's slaughter house, on Eighth West, near Seventh South street, has been under city inspection, but it has been considerably longer. The place has been remodeled and modernized and apparently entitled to an inspector, but it is asserted application was not made in time for the council to act upon it.

The city health department will take up with the state board the matter of inspection for the McMillan plant, which is several miles out of the city. It is proposed to have the city pay for part of the inspection, the state to pay a part and the town of Murray to add some to pay for the inspector to stamp the meats. This will be taken up at a meeting of the board of health to be held next Monday.

Until that time, the city inspectors have been given no authority to see that all meat markets in the city get their meats from inspected plants. All meat sold must bear the stamp of the city meat inspector.

FINDS MILK IS MUCH IMPROVED

State Chemist Analyzes Lactal Fluid and Pronounces It Best Ever Sold Here.

Tests completed yesterday by Herman Harms, state and city chemist, on samples of milk taken from various milk wagons in the city, show that Salt Lake is getting excellent milk, so far as the percentage of butter fat and solids is concerned. Of the 12 samples tested, all were better than the new milk ordinance requires. The ordinance provides that there must be at least 3.2 per cent of butter fat and 12 per cent of milk solids. In only two instances were traces of dirt found. The report on the 12 dairies follows:

Dairies	Butter Fat	Milk Solids
A. B. C.	4.3	13.90
Bennett Brothers	4.1	13.28
James P. Eldredge	4.5	12.75
Intermountain Farm Dairy	3.8	12.25
Elgin	3.3	12.96
Catch Valley dairy	2.6	12.58
Blue Ribbon dairy	3.2	12.50
Parkin Brothers	4.4	12.80
Smith Brothers	4.5	12.90
Salt Lake dairy	3.6	12.75
S. Paddal	4.4	12.75
McHann Brothers	3.8	12.32
Star dairy	4.3	13.18

Some of the milk was shown at temperature as high as 64 degrees, though the ordinance places the maximum at 55 degrees. The milk dealers, according to the city dairy and food inspector, are giving this matter their attention and are delivering milk in better condition than ever before.

GARBAGE ACCUMULATES.

Aroused by many more protests from residents along West Temple street, from Fifth South to Seventh South streets, "Horseless Bill" Margretts, chief of the garbage department of the city, declared yesterday that the city board of health collected some of the garbage at Sixth South and West Temple streets yesterday, but none of that in the middle of the blocks between the two cross streets was taken up.

It is declared by residents that the garbage wagons can go through West Temple street with a little trouble to collect the garbage which has stood in cans and boxes for more than two weeks.

Wagons hauling dirt from the excavations in their street make the trips. Taxpayers are indignant because garbage is not collected.

GOLD MEDAL EXHIBIT TO BE BROUGHT HOME

Rodney J. Hillam, storekeeper for the city board of education, left last night for Seattle to prepare the Salt Lake public school exhibit for shipment home. The gold medal won by the school exhibit will probably arrive before Mr. Hillam returns.

CHARMAN TO BE DOWN TONIGHT

Dr. Short Resigns, but Goshen Probably Will Make the Race.

A meeting of the Republican city committee will be held this evening at Judge George G. Armstrong's court room, in the city and county building, at which all candidates on the city ticket, including the nominees for council, will be present. At this meeting it is the intention to elect a city chairman.

Among those whose names have been mentioned in connection with the position of chairman are F. C. Loebourrow, Arthur Pratt and Harry S. Joseph. The Rev. Francis Burgette Short, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, last night issued a statement declining the nomination for councilman and giving as his principal reason his desire to assist in the election of the Rev. Elmer L. Goshen, who has been nominated for council by the Republicans of the Fifth ward. As Dr. Short had had a conversation with Dr. Goshen, the inference is that Dr. Goshen has concluded to accept the nomination. The latter has persistently declined himself to interviewers since the convention.

In declining the nomination, Dr. Short said: "First—The duties would be too many for me to properly consider and care for in connection with the many duties of my church, which already require all my time.

"Second—This ward presents no ethical problem requiring special attention.

"Third—There is a problem present in the Fifth ward, and all high-minded people should give it their careful consideration.

"Fourth—I propose to assist Brother Goshen in his canvass. A gentleman very prominently connected with juvenile court work in this state says that he considers I will be rendering very efficient service by the above action.

"In thus declining the nomination I thank the convention which nominated me, and feel assured they will succeed in readily filling the vacancy made."

CITY BREVITIES.

FIFTEEN MILES of track was washed out on the Telluride branch of the Denver & Rio Grande by a recent cloudburst, and shippers at Telluride, Ophir, Smuggler and Silverton were greatly discommoded. The waters carried away rails, ties and telegraph poles. That part of the line will have to be rebuilt only the right of way remaining.

YESTERDAY the Oregon Short Line sent out its last special Yellowstone Park train. The service will be resumed next summer, as the travel has been most profitable.

THE FUNERAL of Jato Holding will be held from Hall's funeral chapel at 4 p. m. Saturday. All members of the Order of the Eastern Star are cordially invited to attend.

AT A MEETING in the Volunteers of America chapel, on Commercial street, last evening, a talk will be given by S. H. Stevens, who was recently converted by the local corps.

A. BENDICKSON, a dairyman, was fined $100 in police court yesterday afternoon for selling milk in bulk instead of in bottles. Bendickson, who had been before the court on two other occasions for the same offense, had been warned frequently. He will appeal the case.

MR. AND MRS. FRED W. LITTLE of American Fork, are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter, born Thursday afternoon.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM SPRY has moved to the old Oberdorfer home at Sixth East and Second South streets. He will live there for the winter, until his home at B street and Seventh avenue is finished in the spring.

A. E. KIMBALL has purchased from John Dorius, a building contractor, the handsome eight-story brick residence on First avenue, between S and T streets, for $7,500. The lot on which the house stands is 45x115 feet.

A DAY NEXT WEEK will be fixed by the county commissioners to hear protests for and against the issuance of a liquor license to William Bess, who conducts a saloon at Twelfth South and Main streets. The commissioners have received petitions against the saloon and others for it.

ALL OF THE LEGISLATION of the city council was approved by Mayor John S. Bransford yesterday, even to the Oregon Short Line ordinance fixing tracks in Third West street, which was vetoed by the mayor twice before, but which was approved by the council Wednesday night following the suggestions of the mayor.

THE SECOND CONTRIBUTION to the "Living Flag" committee, to take the $500 personal note off their hands and make a contribution for the living flag, the general public stood sponsor, came yesterday in the form of a check for $10 from the Utah Fuel company. The check was presented by John S. Critchlow and came without solicitation from the committee.

POSITIONS ARE ALSO OPEN for two principals in the schools about the state, as well as for three primary teachers, and A. C. Nelson, state superintendent of public instruction, desires to talk with teachers eligible to fill these positions.

TWO NEW CASES of smallpox were reported yesterday, as follows: Charles Pratt, aged 12, son of P. P. Pratt, 319 South Second East street, and Ethel Lockyer, aged 16, of 529 South Ninth West street.

THERE WILL BE a special meeting of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers in the Lion house, Saturday, Oct. 1, at 3 p. m. A full attendance is desired, as business of importance awaits all members.

CONRAD GAST, a former well known resident of Salt Lake, who for the last six years has been in business at West Berkeley, Cal., is visiting his brother-in-law, Julian Riley, chief deputy in the United States marshal's office, at his residence, 614 South Fourth East street.

MUST PAY INSURANCE.

Widow of Engineer Thomas J. Loftis Gets Judgment for Policy.

A jury in Judge George G. Armstrong's court yesterday rendered a verdict of $2,053.01 in favor of Addie S. Loftis against the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company. Mrs. Loftis sued for the payment of her husband's policy of $2,000, with interest. Her husband, Thomas J. Loftis, an engineer, was killed at Helper on Oct. 14, 1908, in a wreck on the Rio Grande, and had taken out the insurance policy for $2,000 on May 28 of the same year. The insurance company claimed the insurance had been made payable in case of a natural death, but that Loftis' death had been through an accident. It was also claimed that he had defaulted on one payment. Judgment was for the amount asked, minus $42.12, the premium which had just fallen due.

ASSOCIATION INSTITUTE OF Y. M. C. A.

Public speaking class of Y. M. C. A.

Tonight at 7:30 the association institute of the Y. M. C. A. opens its fifth season of evening educational work for men. For weeks the officers and committees have been planning the details of this winter's classes until the new catalogue presents the voluminous appearance of a dignified university. Indeed the association institute has been called the "Gaslight University" for employed men and boys. Last year more male students were enrolled in the Y. M. C. A. than attended the college courses of the University of Utah. The program for the evening will be as follows:

7:30 to 9 p. m., enrollment of students with their instructors; 9 to 9:45, assembly.

For the opening night each instructor has his desk moved into the lobby or library of the association building, where he is available for consultation by the students who are as yet undecided in their courses of study. No examinations are required of students entering this institute, but in order that each student may make sure that he takes the course most advantageous to him, it is required that he have a personal conversation with the secretary for educational work, J. Gustav White, or the principal of the institute, H. S. Dwyer.

These men make it a point to advise students who are able to go to day school to do so in preference to going to night school, and as the Y. M. C. A.

classes are not conducted for pecuniary profit, they in many cases urge that less study be taken at less cost in order that the student may concentrate better upon the work assigned. This personal adjustment of courses to individuals, and the fact that enough teachers are employed to have small classes, are two of the main features which have made this school successful.

Principles and methods to be employed in the conducting of the association institute are the result of recent conference and much correspondence with the other 600 similar Y. M. C. A. schools of North America. Because of the widespread organization of the Y. M. C. A., it is possible for each city to apply the successful experience worked out in the other educational centers of the country. Likewise, experiments which have proved failures in other places are avoided. As a consequence, the local association has been able to avoid the many classic advertised during the past four years.

D. H. Christensen, superintendent of public instruction for the city, will give the address formally opening the institute year. Plans at other instrumental music will enliven the evening's program.

Preceding the opening of the enrollment, the faculty of the institute will meet at dinner. They are invited as their guests for the evening the advisors for the institute, D. McNicol, H. W. Walker, John Hayes, J. S. Critchlow, W. R. Wallace and George Steiner.

NEW BUILDINGS BREAK RECORDS

Permits for Almost Million Dollars' Worth of Construction Issued Last Month.

Building permits for September reached a new high water mark when Building Inspector A. B. Hirth closed his books at noon yesterday, with a total for the month of $815,500. Compared to the total of $317,015 for September, 1908, the month has been a remarkable one.

The largest two permits were for the Rio Grande depot for $400,000 and the Mission theatre on Third South street for $150,000. The last four days of the week permits for only $23,200 were issued. Last week the total reached $257,700.

Building Inspector Hirth has on his desk plans for buildings in October to cost more than $200,000. They are chiefly apartment houses.

One permit was issued yesterday: Ella Jepson, five-room brick, 1549 South Fourth East street, $2,000.

FIRE IN MORAN'S PLANT

Delay in Getting Apparatus Into Action Removes All Chance to Check Flames.

Fire supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion raged in the asphaltum plant of P. J. Moran in City Creek canyon for two hours yesterday afternoon, doing about $8,000 damage. Several carloads of stock were destroyed, and the machinery of the plant was damaged.

The city waterworks was endangered for some time, but was saved by the shifting of the wind.

At the first alarm the apparatus from the central station responded. Later the big steamer and the hose cart from station No. 2 was called. It was necessary to lay 1,800 feet of hose before a stream of water could be trained on the blaze. This gave the flames a greater start.

Two hours after the fire began P. J. Moran had wired orders for new machinery and material.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar proof vault of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 32 up Main street, $2.00 per year and upwards.

MAKES THOREAU AN ANARCHIST

The Rev. Arthur Hayes Sargent Discusses Effect of Revolt From Society's Customs.

MACHINERY RUNS MAKER
AUTOS AND AIRSHIPS MAY DOMINATE THEIR CREATORS.

Henry David Thoreau was the example taken by the Rev. Arthur Hayes Sargent, in his lecture delivered at Unity hall Thursday night on the subject, "The Grand Failure of an Anarchist," the lecture being the second delivered before the Social Science club in the series entitled, "Grand Failures in Social Reform."

The speaker took up the life of Thoreau and his philosophy, and brought out the idea that, while the great economist of whom he spoke might be regarded as a failure in his day through the narrowness of his teaching, much good might be derived by the student of his life in the direction of building up the individual life on a higher plane.

Mr. Sargent said the coat-of-arms of his native state, Vermont, contains the words "Freedom and Unity," and said it seemed rather strange that the two words should be found together, saying that unity and freedom in the strict sense cannot exist together. He said unity in government must be nothing less than a sort of military organization.

He spoke of the terms despotism and anarchy, as they are generally accepted, and said that while there is a disposition on the part of many to regard anarchy as a deplorable condition of affairs on account of the fact that there have been many bad anarchists, a community where the individual holds full sway, with a due regard to the rights of other individuals, may be the best condition of society.

The speaker referred to Thoreau's principal work, "Walden," and discussed the ideas which he held in his revolt from the common usages of society, from the tyranny of the rich and of the luxurious, from fashion and convention. He referred to the philosophy of Thoreau in connection with the supposed slavery of humanity to customs, saying that many doubtless are slaves to fashion in respect to dress, food and other ways. He also referred to the thought that the people of today are the slaves of machinery, and said the automobiles and the airships might run away with the individual.

MAY ASSEMBLE OFFICES

Plan Is on Foot to Have the State Offices in a Business District Building.

Willard Hanson, jr., state food and dairy commissioner, and J. F. Pettit, state coal mine inspector, are the latest among the state officials formerly located at the joint city and county building to get offices in the downtown district. The new offices have been opened on the fifth floor of the Dooly block.

In view of the crowded condition of the joint building, several of the officers have removed recently to the downtown district, and a plan has been discussed with a view of assembling all the state officers who now are scattered throughout the business district in one downtown building. This plan, it is thought, will be carried out at no distant date, and the state officers, aside from those who remain at the joint building, kept together as much as possible until a new capitol building can be provided and arrangements made to house them there.

WILL BRING EXHIBITS.

Displays at Seattle Fair Will Be Shown at Exposition Here.

A. A. Tromp, general manager of the Greater Salt Lake Food and Industrial exposition, which will be held in the Auditorium in this city from Nov. 23 to Dec. 4, left last night for the east to make contracts with manufacturers in Chicago, Denver, Kansas City and other places for space in the exhibition. Preliminary arrangements have been made by a number of manufacturers who have exhibits at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which will close next month, to bring their exhibits here.

H. J. MAHON MANAGER OF UNIVERSITY CLUB

Herbert J. Mahon of Philadelphia has been engaged as manager and assistant secretary of the University club. Mr. Mahon has had seventeen years' successful hotel experience. He was also secretary for seven years of the Royal Topsy works of England, of which the Duke of Albany was president. Mr. Mahon succeeds the Rev. B. M. Hogan, who took the desk after the death of Mr. Lindsay until a permanent official could be found.

WANTS BIG HALL FOR FLOCKMASTERS' MEETING

Plans are being made by C. B. Stewart, secretary of the Utah Wool Growers' association, to get a hall for the meeting of the sheep raisers of the state next Monday. For the usual meetings of the association the offices in the Judge building are large enough, but as about 20 flockmasters are expected at this meeting more room is necessary.

The meeting will be held at the Utah Wool Growers' association, to get a hall for the meeting of the sheep raisers of the state next Monday.

SCHOOL WILL EXHIBIT.
Utah Agricultural College Will Show Work at State Fair.

The zoology department of the Utah Agricultural college will send an exhibition to the state fair under the direction of Professor Titus.

The machine and blacksmithing departments will have an exhibit of the fair consisting of two cases of students' exercises, one express wagon built by the students, and some miscellaneous exercises. Twenty-two students have enrolled up to the present. The substitution of gas coke for smithing coal has proved more than a success. Mr. Hughes, who is designing and carving the furniture for the library and dining room of the woman's building, expects to have most of the furniture ready for exhibition at the fair.

The domestic science and arts departments will also have an exhibit under the direction of Miss Kerr and Miss Love. One hundred and twenty-five students are now enrolled in this work.
